ON THE COVER

A "Fireside Chat" With Your Alumnae President

Dear Alumna:

I am happy to have the opportunity of a "fireside chat" with you. Such occasions will not only keep us from feeling apart, but will actually draw us closer — making a stronger organization. Pull up a chair. Have a cup of coffee or do you prefer tea? Here is still some Christmas fruit cake which reminds us of Christ's birthday and His active interest in Christian education.

May 1956 be traditionally "happy and prosperous" with increased alumnae interest and promotion in education at Wesleyan! Let us talk Wesleyan, give to Wesleyan, and send to Wesleyan!

These hearth visits may well be Wesleyan's equivalent to Yale's "Graduate Fence" on which two alumni sit and chat.

The first thing I would like to say is, "Thank You!" for entrusting to me the presidency of our alumnae association. I appreciate humbly the high honor. I wear it proudly, for Wesleyan is great. Help me wear it successfully by expressing to me your constructive thinking. If you have been one of those who let others grapple with Wesleyan's problems, begin now to assume individual responsibility.

I know that each alumna wishes to say, "Thank you!" to the Ford Foundation for its generosity. Could those responsible know how much we needed and need such help, they might sense our appreciation.

Friday, March 16th, at 12:15 is the time for the Wesleyan luncheon during the Georgia Education Association meeting in Atlanta, March 14-16. The place is Longino's Tea Room on 37½ Forsyth Street N.W., across the street from the new Fulton National Bank Building. Luncheon will be $1.50. Make reservations through Bessie Tappan Farris (Mrs. A. S.), 1101 Springdale Rd., N.E., Atlanta or Crescent 1878. If you are not a teacher, this should be a choice time for spring shopping and a fine opportunity to hear Dr. Ernestine Bledsoe, of the Wesleyan faculty, and Virginia (Scott) Estes, teacher in the Columbus schools. These teachers are the alumnae association's second and fourth vice-presidents.

In the spring, all of us need a "break." The best pause is at Wesleyan during the Arts Festival, March 2-6. A wonderful program! The new Porter auditorium! The planting of flowering trees near the lake! An Alumnae Council meeting! Come! You will be thrilled to see many evidences of progress since commencement.

Encourage high school senior leaders to apply now for the Wesleyan Alumnae Endowed Scholarship for Leadership.

I know you welcome this issue of "The Wesleyan Alumnae" under its well-known, well-loved title. All rejoice that the proposed change was unnecessary.

All alumnae are working harmoniously for the continued growth of Wesleyan College at Rivoli and the preservation of Old Wesleyan as a center of community interests and an historic shrine.

Spring is here — with it, the Loyalty Fund. Through this gate, our love and appreciation for Wesleyan become alive! Without delay, let us contribute with cheerful increase.

The fireside is too relaxing — I'll see you later.

Yours for Wesleyan,

Irene (Sewell) Hobby
National Alumnae President.

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

A Date, A Theme, and A Price

By DR. GULNAR K. BOSCH, Chairman

FINE ARTS FESTIVAL

The dates are set: This year Fine Arts Festival has been planned to coincide with the opening of the new Porter Family Memorial Building. The theme is "Christianity and the Fine Arts." From March 2 through the 6th there will be a succession of stimulating evening presentations and afternoon discussions on this challenging subject.

Sunday afternoon a real treat is in store for the myriads who love and honor Professor Joseph Maerz. He has consented to play for us and with his magic endow the newest of Wesleyan buildings with some to-be-cherished moments of beauty.

The Wesleyan Drama Department will open the Festival Friday evening with its third production of the season, "Family Portrait" by Lenore Coffee and William Joyce Cowen. It was first produced in New York City starring Judith Anderson. Taking for its theme the Master's own words, "A prophet is not without honor, but in his own country, and among his own kin and in his own house." "Family Portrait" elaborates in the terms of the ordinary family which acts and speaks as we do today. In its entirety the story encompasses the last three years of Christ's life.

On Saturday evening, Mr. Fred Nagler will lecture on why he devotes himself to religious art. Twenty or more of his religious paintings will be on exhibition in the new gallery. Henry McBride, eminent critic, says of his work — "Many of the early men of the European Renaissance had no other thought than to testify wholeheartedly, like Nagler, to their beliefs, and in spite of their indifference to the fashions of painting in vogue in their time, their works now repose in museums." Sincerity, beautiful colors and forms should make this exhibit, with its never-old subject matter, an appealing one.

The Department of Music will present on Monday evening Bach's "Concerto for Four Pianos" with Doris Jelks, Linda Lane, John O'Steen, and William Zimmerman of the Wesleyan faculty. Imagine the size of our new stage which can easily accommodate such a performance! They will be accompanied by the Wesleyan Orchestra under the direction of Dean Jorgensen. A group of solos from oratorios will be sung by Norman McLean of the faculty followed by a second Four Piano number of Bach's Chorales arranged by Mr. O'Steen.

Opening with "Redeem Israel," a Hebrew traditional song, the Wesleyan Chorus, Vladimir Zorin directing, and the Wesleyan Orchestra accompanying, the climax of this evening will be "The Song of Miriam" by Schubert. Dramatized and costumed, it narrates the joy of Miriam, sister of Moses after crossing the Red Sea.

Bishop F. Pierce Corson will formally open the Porter Family Memorial building on Tuesday evening with an address on the Festival theme. The Wesleyan Glee Club of eighty voices and the Wesleyan Orchestra of over seventy-five will present two numbers: "The Voice of Freedom" by Rubenstein and "Hundred-Fiftieth Psalm" by Cesar Franck.

In addition to the four evening programs beginning at 8:30, and Professor Maerz on Sunday afternoon, three other afternoon programs at 3 o'clock have been planned. Saturday afternoon will open our more intimate approaches to our theme with some significant Fine Art expressions of today with religious import. We will use the new technique of conferences and face one of the questions — "What are the contributions of Religion to the Fine Arts" on Monday afternoon, and the other — "What is it these artistic expressions contribute to the enrichment and development of religion" on Tuesday afternoon.

In these three afternoons with presentations material, buzz sessions and summaries we shall endeavor to reach student and faculty, alumnae and townspeople in a tangible way.

We are excited about it. Christianity and the Fine Arts can be linked today as they were in the medieval world to create a vital force in living.

Won't you plan to come? There are rooms available at Conservatory. The tickets are within everybody's range with Patrons at $5, season tickets at $3 and single admissions at $1.25. Let us know you approve of this festival by coming or being a Patron!

The Annual Alumnae Council Planned For March 6

The annual Alumnae Council meeting will be held at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, March 6, in order to tie it in with the Fine Arts Festival and to encourage more Wesleyan alumnae to participate in and to enjoy the fine programs planned for both. Irene (Sewell) Hobby of Atlanta, national president, will preside at the meeting to be held in the date parlors at Rivoli.

Here important matters studied by the Board of Managers are brought before the larger group of Alumnae, and also interesting news of Wesleyan is revealed.

Brief reports from the four campus organizations will be given by the student leaders.

Following brief reports from the national officers and Club presidents, a short dedication has been planned for the flowering red-bud trees planted near the Foster Lake and given personally by Irene (Sewell) Hobby and Louise (Davis) Davison.

Reservations for the Dutch luncheon in the Anderson Dining Room at one o'clock may be made through the Alumnae Office not later than March 2.

We urge all interested alumnae to spend March 6 at Wesleyan and attend the Alumnae Council, the afternoon session of the Festival, and to hear Dr. Corson that night. If possible, come earlier; make reservation to spend Monday night at the old Conservatory and enjoy the four piano concert in the new auditorium.

"The Crucifixion" by Fred Nagler

The Ballet Theatre At Wesleyan January 31

Performance Thrilled a Packed House In New Auditorium

Everyone—that is, everyone who could get a ticket — saw the Ballet Theatre in the new Porter Family Memorial Building at Rivoli when for the first time the College shared the auditorium with the community. The excitement of a "first-nighter" on Broadway could not possibly have surpassed the expectancy of the crowd as they thronged into the building and took their seats and as the new green velvet curtain opened on "Swan Lake."

The evening was indeed a happy one in every respect, made so by Dr. Martin's well-chosen words of welcome, by the comfort and beauty of the building which the community will enjoy along with the College for years to come, and by the happy choice of the program for the auditorium's first public event.

The star-studded cast, headed by Nora Kaye, John Kriza, Erik Bruhn, and Lupt Serrano, the unusually competent corps of supporting dancers, and the skillful staging, lighting and costuming all added up to a brilliant evening.

The famous troupe, with its 100 members presented "Swan Lake," "Billy the Kid," and "Graduation Ball." These three ballets were chosen from a repertoire of more than 30 modern and classical dances.

Wesleyan Alumnae To Meet During G. E. A. Convention

A Wesleyan Alumnae luncheon is being planned for Friday, March 16, during the G.E.A. Convention in Atlanta, at Longino's Luncheon, 29 Forsyth St., with Bessie (Tappan) Farris, (Mrs. A. S.) '19, as general chairman. Irene (Sewell) Hobby, national president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, urges all Wesleyan teachers planning to attend the convention to make reservation either through the Alumnae Office, with Bessie (Tappan) Farris, or at the auditorium during the convention. The price of the luncheon is $1.50. All alumnae are invited.

An interesting program has been planned with two of our outstanding alumnae teachers, Dr. Ernestine Bledsoe, head of the department of Education at Wesleyan College, and Virginia (Scott) "Scotty" Estes of Columbus, Ga., both of whom hold offices in the National Alumnae Association.

Working with Bessie (Tappan) Farris on this luncheon meeting will be Louise (Beckham) Woods, '30, and Mildred (Vinson) Clanton, '25.

All alumnae are urged to attend and enjoy the fellowship. Make your reservation early.

WESLEYAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA ACCLAIMED

The Wesleyan Symphony Orchestra appeared in concert at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, January 10, in Porter Gymnasium. Dr. Sigurd Jorgensen, dean of the School of Fine Arts, is conductor of the group.

An enthusiastic audience applauded the college musicians for their unusual version of Leroy Anderson's The Waltzing Cat, staged with sound effects which included cats' meows and a dog's bark. The North Woods atmosphere created by a chorus dressed as loggers in The Paul Bunyan Suite also drew favorable comment.

Other selections on the program were Le Tambourin, an old French dance by Rameau; Symphony in F Major by Dittersdorf; Dove Song from The Marriage of Figaro by Mozart; Promenade, Opus 100, by Schubert; selections from Blossom Time, by Romberg; The Rhapsody in Blue, by Gershwin; and Knightsbridge March, London Suite, by Eric Coates.

Margaret Mead, Robert Frost Among Eminent Speakers at Wesleyan

Noted author and anthropologist Margaret Mead, Pulitzer prize-winning poet Robert Frost, and famous educator Willard Goslin are among the speakers visiting Wesleyan College this month and next.

Later this year, Wesleyan will be host to Bishop F. Pierce Corson; Dr. Frank Graham, former Senator from North Carolina and now a U.N. representative; Dr. L. C. Dunn, well-known geneticist; and Alfred Kazin, eminent essayist, all of whom will lead convocations.

Dr. Mead Spoke Jan. 16

Dr. Mead, who spoke to a convocation on January 16, is associate curator of Ethnology, the American Museum of History, New York, and adjunct professor of anthropology at Columbia University.

Internationally known as a student of primitive and contemporary cultures, Dr. Mead spent many years living among South Sea peoples. Her numerous expeditions have taken her to Samoa, to the Manus tribe in the Admiralty Islands, New Guinea, and to Bali.

The author of such works as And Keep Your Powder Dry, Sex and Temperament in Three Societies, and Male and Female, Dr. Mead has been president of the Society for Applied Anthropology and vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Her excellent address was entitled "How Fast Can Men Change."

In Late January, Robert Frost

During his long and colorful career, poet Robert Lee Frost, who lectured in the Porter Gymnasium on January 25, has been a farmer, English professor, and psychology teacher.

Four times awarded the Pulitzer prize for poetry, Mr. Frost is perhaps best known as the author of A Witness Tree, The Lovely Shall Be Choosers, Birches, Death of the Hired Man, Mending Wall, and Two Tramps in Mud-Time.

Since 1943, he has been the George Ticknor fellow in humanities at Dartmouth College. He is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters, the International P.E.N., and the American Philosophical Society.

Convocation speaker on February 10 was Dr. Willard Edward Goslin, member of the American Association of School Administrators, the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and the American Education Association.

Dr. Goslin spent the summer of 1947 in Europe conferring and working with educational leaders and statesmen from England, Switzerland, France, and Germany. As chairman of the Conference of Human Relations, sponsored by the International Council of Christians and Jews which met in Switzerland, he talked with delegates from most of the European countries and Australia.

Since 1951, Dr. Goslin has been the chairman of the Division of Educational Administration and Community Development at the George Peabody School for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee.

Don Cossack Chorus To Perform In New Auditorium

Wesleyan Glee Club Will Sing With Famous Men's Choral Troupe

The internationally-known Don Cossack Chorus will perform in the beautiful auditorium of the new Porter Family Memorial Building on February 24, with the 99-member Wesleyan Glee Club joining them in a number entitled "Gospody Pomilui." Tickets may be had by writing the Public Relations office at the College now.

Written by Lvovsky, a special arrangement of "Gospody Pomilui" for women's voices has been completed by Serge Jaroff, who leads the Cossacks, especially for their Wesleyan appearance. The song contains an almost chromatic descent and ascent in which the Glee Club members will repeat "Gospody Pomilui" — Russian for "God have mercy upon us" — 77 times.

Included in the Don Cossack program will be orthodox sacred numbers, rousing songs of army and steppe, and folk tunes from Russian provinces.

The nostalgic "Meadowlands," a Don Cossack classic, will again be a part of the program, as will the "First Psalm of David," which is typical of old Russian church music. Also on the program will be "The Regiment Was Riding," the fiery, energetic rhythm of which portrays the sweeping gallop of the Cossack's horse as he turns toward home.

Cossack versions of the Credo from "The Liturgy" by Kastalsky; "O God, Save Thy People," by Tchaikovsky; and excerpts from the opera, "A Life for the Tsar," by Glinka, as arranged by Shvedoff, are to be presented.

"Parting," arranged by Shvedoff; "Down the Petrograd Road," "Green Grass," "Kalinka," arranged by Jaroff; "Cossacks in Captivity," by Nichteinsky; and "Dark Eyes," a Russian Gypsy song arranged by Shvedoff, are among the folk songs listed for the Cossack recital.

Cossack soloists this season include Seifert, Magnushevsky, Sazepin, Botschko, Royko, Stanislavsky, Bierlecki, and Morosoff. The voices in the Chorus range from low bass to high tenor, and frequently the choir spans two and one-half octaves.

Diminutive Serge Jaroff will lead the Don Cossacks as they cackle and whistle during the comic episodes, and there will be free-kicking exercises by the Kazztski corps. Russian dances will be performed once again by Botschko and Sazepin.

Mr. Vladimir Zorin, director of the Wesleyan Glee Club, was for several years a member and soloist of the Don Cossack Chorus. Russian-born, and an officer in the Imperial Russian Army in the first World War, Mr. Zorin is now an American citizen and taught privately in Boston before joining the Wesleyan faculty in 1944. He was educated at the University of Moscow and the Tver Academy in Russia and at the Vienna Conservatory in Austria.

Mr. Zorin is holder of the Wm. E. and Marion L. Chenery Professorship in voice.

In addition to the Don Cossack Chorus, other important artistic programs are scheduled for the new auditorium during the coming weeks. The Macon Community Concert series will offer Mata and Hari, dancers, on February 15, and the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra on March 7. Wesleyan presented Mr. Zimmerman and Mr. O'Steen in faculty recital on February 12, and its Fine Arts Festival, will be March 2-6.

Wesleyan Gets $120,000 From Macon Friends Plus Gifts From Foundations

Friends of Wesleyan College in the Macon community have provided Wesleyan with $120,000 as a result of the joint Wesleyan-Mercer campaign, which was brought to its formal conclusion on December 20.

The effort which both President Martin of Wesleyan and President Connell of Mercer described as "exceedingly worthwhile" will be continued informally over the next few months. Despite the difficult timing — the campaign came directly between two important fund raising efforts in Macon — the friends of Wesleyan clearly demonstrated that they can help Wesleyan help itself.

However, the campaign focused attention on the need for expansion of interest in the public and the business community for the cause of supporting Christian educational institutions.

Wesleyan's one-half share of the $240,000 which was raised in this campaign, will be used to help pay for the now completed Porter Family Memorial Building. An additional $125,000 is still needed to pay for the work already done.

The campaign in the Macon community was by no means the only effort Wesleyan has made in recent months to improve its long-range financial picture. Last summer, President Martin made a trip to New York to acquaint the men of the Ford Foundation with the work of Wesleyan College. The Foundation has now given Wesleyan $98,000. The interest from this fund is to be used for increasing the faculty salaries.

A foundation which has its headquarters right here in Georgia offered, late last year, to give Wesleyan $50,000, provided a like amount could be raised by the first of this year. Because of President Martin's untiring efforts, this amount was secured and the college now has $100,000 additional endowment.

Although much has been done in the past year toward improving the endowment, much still needs to be done in 1956 and subsequent years if Wesleyan is to continue to fulfill its mission as a provider of the finest Christian education for young women.

Florence Beasley On AAS Program

Florence Beasley, A.B. 1936, with the division of mental hygiene of the Georgia Department of Public Health in Atlanta, was the only Wesleyanne on the program during the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science held in Atlanta December 26 through the 31st. This was the first meeting of this national organization in Atlanta in 42 years.

Florence, who is a member of the Society for Research in Child Development, was on the symposium on Maternal Deprivation. Her paper was entitled "Maternal Deprivation — a Public Health Problem."

For the past three years Florence has been developing a program of public health nursing services to families of the mentally ill, which will be state-wide as rapidly as each of the 159 counties is ready.

European Tour Is Accredited

Dr. Gulnar Bosch, head of Wesleyan's art department, who has conducted European tours for the last four years, announces that for the first time with the tour this coming summer Wesleyan will grant college credit to those who enroll in the tour-course, which will be called "Art in the Western World."

The State Board of Education has announced that these courses will be good toward renewal of teaching certificates, and Bibb County accepts them for salary implement credit.

Former Trustee Dies January 14

Mr. Thomas Jefferson Stewart, husband of Octavia (Burden) Stewart and former trustee of Wesleyan College, died at his country home in Jones County January 14.

Mr. Stewart was elected a trustee of Wesleyan in 1933 and served as chairman of the finance committee for many years. He was one of four trustees to guarantee the repurchase of the college when it was put up for public sale and was one of the incorporators of the Wesleyan Corporation.

Alumna is Phi Delta Phi Day Speaker

The Importance of Scholarship For Women

Scholarship and "brains" were predominant on the Wesleyan campus December 2 when the leaders in the Phi Delta Phi honor society brought one of their own members, a Wesleyan graduate, Dr. Carol (Jones) Carlisle, A.B. 1940, as Phi Delta Phi Day speaker. She spoke on "The Importance of Scholarship for Women."

Dr. Carlisle was introduced by Dr. "Gin," the beloved head of the English Department, who claimed Carol to be the fulfillment of every English professor's dream! Carol has successfully combined marriage, her family of two children, teaching in the English department at University of South Carolina, research, and writing a book on Shakespearean criticism by English and American actors.

"Well, I am here to defend scholarship — even for girls," stated Carol. "Although it seems popular to conceal brains, it is not thought quite so necessary to appear stupid at an all-girls' school as it is at a co-ed institution. Such a defense might seem unnecessary here, of all places, where the advantages of giving higher education to women were first recognized. But perhaps a re-evaluation of these advantages will be worthwhile; for the woman of 1955 faces an entirely different world than that of her great-great-grandmother of 1836."

She stressed the expanding role by women and the multiplicity of professions from which they can choose, such as, medicine, law, teaching, statecraft, diplomacy. But Dr. Carlisle laid her greatest emphasis upon scholarship and what it has to offer the college graduate who has successfully "snared and married" a suitable man. And she continued, "since this is a mid-morning solo performance and not a midnight bull session, I will content myself with listing briefly four such benefits: (1) a livelier and more interesting personality, (2) a respect for truth and the ability to find and recognize it, (3) an increased capacity for enjoying life and helping others to enjoy it, and (4) more effective moral and religious leadership."

Margaret (Adams) Phillips, '40, president of the Phi Delta Phi honor society, presided at the convocation program and introduced the two new members chosen from the senior class: Emily Sawyer, daughter of Annie Lawrence (Riley) Sawyer, '25, and Carolyn Eaddy.

Other members of the honor society present for the program were Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, '26; Nell (Richards) Sams, '40; Emmie (Carlton) Johnson, '49; Emily (Hancock) Jones, '49; Jan Gay, '53; Elizabeth Winn, '25.

Alumnae Support for Wesleyan Is Vitally Needed—Now!

Last year Wesleyan received from many sources the dollars it needed to provide its young people with the finest Christian education. A part of the money — and by no means the larger part — came from student tuition payments. Some of it came from previous gifts and endowments established long ago. A small part of it (in connection with the new auditorium and Fine Arts Building) came from borrowing in anticipation of future gifts to the College. Another part of Wesleyan's support came from the current giving of friends of the College — some of them alumnae — many of them not.

Wesleyan's financial picture for next year is brighter largely because of the magnificent efforts of a relatively few "outsiders" who sincerely believe in our traditional American patterns of education. Through the Ford Foundation's conviction in the purpose of private education and through its generosity, Wesleyan now has $98,300 to be used for faculty salary endowment.

Another foundation, this one in Georgia, last year gave Wesleyan $50,000 for endowment with the provision that those people who have reason to be interested in Wesleyan give an additional $50,000. By exceedingly hard work, President Martin raised the additional $50,000 by the first of this year and the $100,000 is now assured for Wesleyan College.

Friends of the College in Macon — many of whom have no intimately personal reason to be interested in Wesleyan College — have just given a sum in excess of $120,000 to be used for the completion of the new Porter Family Memorial Building. Those who gave in this effort made no stipulation that others must contribute a like sum before they would pay their pledge. But in a real sense their giving created a moral obligation for those who have directly benefited from the advantages of being Wesleyan to do their very best to show we are equally as interested in supporting our Alma Mater. As Nils Y. Wessell, President of Tufts University, recently said, "Every College and University graduate must bear in mind that while industrial and business grants are of immeasurable help, colleges and universities will continue to move forward, will fulfill their functions completely, only when the graduates of these institutions continue to strengthen their link with Alma Mater and give both moral and financial support on a larger scale than heretofore."

Will the Alumnae of Wesleyan manifest interest in their Alma Mater to the extent of building a large scholarship fund this Loyalty Fund Year? Will you give "both moral and financial support on a larger scale than heretofore?" "Outsiders" have done more than we had any right to expect; now our College needs our support. Now is the time to stand up and be counted as a loyal Wesleyanne.

As of January 7, the following Alumnae have contributed through the Alumnae Office to the 1955-56 Loyalty Fund (this does not include donors to the joint campaign held in Bibb County):

Alumna Leaves Bequest to Wesleyan

A bequest of $10,000 was made to Wesleyan College by the late Nannie (Merritt) Lee of Parrott, Ga., member of the class of 1901, who died May 1, 1955.

This bequest, announced in December, will be in the form of a trust in memory of her mother, Nannie (Hunt) Merritt, 1867, and her sister, Ida (Merritt) Lowe, 1893, the income from which to provide scholarships for needy girls of outstanding ability. She is survived by several nieces, all Wesleyannes: Page (Munro) Merritt, A.B., 1923; Anna (Boone) West, 1917; and Jennie (Boone) Hogan, 1921.

Dr. Martin, president of Wesleyan, in expressing his gratitude for this gift said: "A bequest is one of the tangible ways, in which an alumna can express appreciation for the indirect as well as the direct scholarship benefits received from one's alma mater. The truth of the matter is everybody is on scholarship at everybody's college, which is another way of saying that no one pays the full cost of his education. We can but hope that many daughters of Wesleyan will be inspired by this magnificent gift and will do likewise."
